Concept	The Vision of three well travelled friends, two English and one Italian, to create a relaxing retreat in the heart of Tuscany. With a unique blend of style and informality the guest is immediately able to establish their own holiday rhythm, when finding the time for a vacation slot, is so precious. Comfortably marrying modern design, technology and ideals with all that is traditional in Italy has given this archetypal Italian Villa a new life for the New Millennium.

Fontelunga

Creative Team

The three originally London based, long time friends, brought with them all the different facets that have together moulded what is “Villa Fontelunga”. Simon once an accountant now a landscape gardener has, with his financial acumen and imaginative flair, touched his green fingers on the grounds. The Villa now sits elegantly amongst its manicured olive groves, terraced lawns and breathtaking pool. Philip, working as a production designer in the frenetic world of the film industry and in a need of punctuation to this pace, has crafted the complete look of the Villa. So creating a product unique in design to set the Villa apart from the crowd. Paolo originally a City Broker has taken his unappreciated communication skills humour and love for life to the Villa management with a style all of his own. Of course no Italian management would be whole without their “mama”, Ines, whose culinary art and colourful manner are synonymous with Villa Fontelunga. Now locally known as the “ragazzi”, along with Ines and the stunning accommodation we are Fontelunga Hotel 6 Villas

Location

Standing elegantly on the edge of the Val di Chiana, the garden of Italy, Villa Fontelunga has expansive views towards the city of Cortona and its mountains beyond. Surrounded by its own olive groves, local sunflower, wheat and fruit farms it is impossible not to feel the heart of Tuscany beating.

With Florence, Siena, Orvieto and Assisi within a one-hour drive, it’s all culturally at your fingertips. Restaurants are never hard to find in Italy and the region has its fair share with all the seasonal specialities, wild boar, Porcini
