

PRESENTATION (PRESS RELEASE)

We are happy to present Luxury Boutique Hotel Badia di Pomaio. This historical landmark, once a monastery, was under renovation for two years. Thanks to the hard work of Italian designers, artisans, artists and producers, Badia di Pomaio and its restaurant, Campo Badia, opened to the public in the middle of summer 2019.

One of the crucial staples of this project was the respect for the history and the essence of Badia di Pomaio. The contemporary design merges seamlessly with the building's monastic elements, creating an unexpected mix of elegance, simplicity and modernity. The original shape of the walls and of the arched ceilings was preserved through the careful use of clean, straight lines and soft colours. The natural materials used for the décor – like wood, hemp, linen and stone – recall the nature that surrounds the estate, its peacefulness and its humble beauty.

The property's vast grounds seem a natural extension of the surrounding forest, giving guests the impression of being immersed in the wilderness every moment of the day. The culinary garden planted in 2019 grows bigger every year and it's now the source of different varieties of tomatoes, salads, artichokes and many more products. In the second year since its opening, the hotel added a biological farm to its already environment-friendly estate. It now houses four goats and about 50 chickens of different breeds.

Badia di Pomaio's greatest purpose is to help guests rediscover the energy of nature inside themselves. We want them to enjoy the freedom of living in this former abbey, where nature and history come together in new and surprising ways. As they sit by the pool, letting the sounds of the forest lull them, they will finally feel at peace.
