Perfectly nestled between the slopes of the Itria valley and the port of Savellietri, the course features a combination of strategically placed bunkers and an intricate mistral-oriented design, created by architect Andy Haggar. This prestigious links course has been designed by European Golf Design in London with sea-views from every hole. It winds through gentle slopes, zigzagging through ancient olive trees with glimpses of the ancient city of Egnathia. Not surprisingly it has established itself as one of the best golf clubs in Italy and a well-known stage for important national and international tournaments. In October 2019, it achieved GEO Certified® status, the world Certification by GEO Foundation for sustainability standards.

HISTORY

“Offering guests an experience that is impossible to live elsewhere, based on the authenticity, the spirit and the beauty of the local culture”: for over twenty-five years this vision has allowed the Melpignano family, who are deeply in love with this land and its traditions, to contribute to transforming Puglia into one of the most sought-after destinations in the world.

The story begins in 1996, when an intrepid entrepreneurial vision from Sergio and Marisa Melpignano transforms Masseria San Domenico from a private family residence into an exclusive oasis of peace open to guests from all over the world.

From May 2010 Borgo Egnazia is the largest property of the San Domenico Hotels Group, which includes Masseria San Domenico, Masseria Cimino, Masseria Le Carrube, San Domenico Golf, all located in Puglia, and San Domenico House in London. Each structure has an absolutely fascinating identity, made unique by the highest levels of hospitality.

DESTINATION PUGLIA

Discovering Puglia is the beginning of a true love experience.

During the relatively mild autumn and winter seasons, the land offers a vast choice of produce, the beautiful colours, the unique village festivals and ancient traditions are guaranteed, while spring and summer literally make Puglia bloom and burst, with events, beach parties and shows. Moreover, regardless of the season it is possible to enjoy the natural landscapes and human settlements: always breathtaking to see.

Puglia is also renowned for its culture and art. Discover the villages, churches, castles and places that are worth more than one visit, such as the truly unique UNESCO World Heritage sites: the world-famous “trulli” (cone-roof houses) in Alberobello, the beautiful and mysterious Castel del Monte near Andria and Monte Sant’Angelo, one of the oldest Michaelic cult sites.

Also, the amazing and unmissable towns of the Itria Valley (the breath taking “cummerse” houses in Locorotondo or the “White City” of Ostuni), to the small seafront towns of Polignano and Monopoli, the marvels of the Salento (the Baroque buildings in Lecce, also known as “the Florence of the South”) and the elegance of Otranto (the easternmost city on the Italian peninsula).
