

PARK HYATT MILANO
The icon of Milanese 5-star luxury hospitality with cosmopolitan flair

Park Hyatt Milano is the exclusive, elegant 5-star luxury hotel in the historic heart of Milan, a vibrant, international city and the hub of the Italian business world.

With its entrance on a private street, Via Tommaso Grossi, Park Hyatt Milano has direct access to the famous Galleria Vittorio Emanuele II, one of the symbols of the city along with the Duomo. The hotel is strategically located for both business travelers and guests who want to immerse themselves in the latest fashion and design trends, just a short walk from the Stock Exchange and the financial district, as well as from the prestigious boutiques of the renowned Via Montenapoleone and Via della Spiga.

Originally designed by architect Ed Tuttle inside a classical 19th-century palazzo, since its opening in 2003 Park Hyatt Milano has been an emblem of contemporary style and sophisticated luxury, blending perfectly into the urban fabric, but with a distinctly international atmosphere.

Epitomizing the hotel's modern, innovative style, the 106 rooms and suites – completely renovated in 2021 to offer guests an even more exclusive and personalized experience – are refined, elegant spaces that highlight original architectural and design details that are distinctly Milanese.

Always a meeting place for business people, creative professionals, travelers and Milanese, the Park Hyatt Milano's common areas include the exclusive gourmet restaurant Pellico 3 Milano, with an innovative menu curated by Chef Guido Paternollo; the Mio Lab bar, a favorite spot for the ritual of the Milanese aperitif; and La Cupola, the focal point of life at the hotel, from breakfast to dinner. On the underground level, AQVAM Spa offers innovative professional methods with products by 111Skin that let its guests reconnect with beauty and well-being.

LA CUPOLA LOBBY LOUNGE

La Cupola at the Park Hyatt Milano is the heart of the hotel. Inside the main entrance, guests are treated to a welcoming lounge illuminated by natural light from the glass cupola overhead, an imposing, nine-meter-high structure that imparts an immediate sense of bright warmth and intimate atmosphere. In keeping with the needs of an international, local and business clientele, La Cupola presents a wide variety of dining selections, from Breakfast starting at 7 a.m., where guests can enjoy the art of delectable pastries in particular, to the All Day Dining menu available until 11 p.m., with fresh, modern choices ranging from classics of Italian cuisine to international dishes. A tasteful, serene atmosphere and the special play of light lend a new dimension to the majestic cupola, which is now a Cocktail Lounge where patrons can sip drinks, as well as a privileged window beneath the stars in the heart of Milan.

MIO LAB & DEHORS

Nestled in the historic center of Milan facing onto Galleria Vittorio Emanuele II, Mio Lab is one of the best-known cocktail bars in the city, famed for the art and tradition of Mixology as well as its atmosphere. Mio Lab exudes effervescence to the rhythm of the gestures of expert barmen, equally well-versed in the perfect execution of the great classics as in the imaginative variation of the bar's signature cocktails. From aperitif to after dinner drinks, Mio Lab guests can enjoy a wide range of special spirits. A selection of cocktail nibbles specially created for the bar is available to accompany drinks from 5 p.m. to midnight.

The Dehors commands one of the best views in Milan: Galleria Vittorio Emanuele II. From spring until late autumn, this space is the best location in town, overlooking the "Living Room of Milan".

GOURMET RESTAURANT PELLICO 3 MILANO

The gourmet restaurant Pellico 3 Milano at the Park Hyatt Milano, with Chef Guido Paternollo at the helm, is the ideal place for a sensory culinary experience in the warm glow of a welcoming ambiance, in the very heart of Milan, across from the Galleria Vittorio Emanuele II and just steps away from Teatro alla Scala and Via Montenapoleone. Redesigned in 2022, the restaurant under the guidance of Executive Chef Guido Paternollo explores and pursues an ideal of lightness and equilibrium between dishes and design. Clean-lined furnishings and décor, in perfect harmony with the cuisine, let guests enjoy an experience that engages all five of the senses, a place where cooking is synonymous with seasonal ingredients, diligently researched and meticulously selected. Flavors reflect the entire Mediterranean basin, not just typically Italian ones, and seasonality is the rule. The result is a restaurant where food is the absolute star. Pellico 3 Milano is open Tuesday to Saturday from 7-10 p.m.

CHEF GUIDO PATERNOLLO

With a degree in engineering from the Milan Polytechnic, Chef Guido Paternollo (born in 1991) transformed his passion for cooking into a vocation and a profession. Starting in 2015 in the kitchen of Michelin-starred chef Enrico Bartolini where he worked for a few years, in 2017 he went to France, the home of the most highly sophisticated cuisine, to work for stars of the caliber of Alain Ducasse and Yannick Alleno. His experiences abroad led Chef Paternollo to acquire a comprehensive understanding of international cuisine. But his dream was to return to Milan and create his own unique and innovative personal gastronomic language, bringing the creative ideas he had developed over the years into the kitchen. Thus, in 2022, he began his adventure with Pellico 3 Milano at the Park Hyatt Milano, an ideal setting to introduce a menu that draws inspiration from diverse places and traditions around the Mediterranean basin, weaving together an array of sophisticated flavors.

AQVAM SPA

An oasis of well-being in the center of the city, AQVAM Spa is the urban spa at the Park Hyatt Milano. With a Turkish bath, poly-functional showers, hydromassage tubs and a comfortable relaxation area, it also has rooms for massages and facial and body treatments, with skin care products by an exceptional partner, 111SKIN. The “clinically inspired” London-based luxury skincare brand founded by Dr. Yannis Alexandrides focuses on understanding the internal and external aging process, and is inspired by the clinical methods, offering exclusive and highly innovative treatments with a holistic approach to beauty. Clients can also enjoy manicure and pedicure services with Fedua Cosmetics products, a beauty brand founded in 2015 by Luca Gonzini, and the Beppe D’Elia Hair Jewellery Salon. Completing the hotel’s wellness refuge, the gym offers the latest generation of Technogym cardio training equipment.

ROOMS AND SUITES

As part of a continuous commitment to offering the best possible service and meeting the diverse needs of guests, the iconic hotel completely renovated all of its rooms and suite in 2021. The rooms are designed to ensure a sense of maximum comfort and ease. Inspired by Milanese style, the architects developed a palette of color tones that reflect the nuances of the city, in particular the Duomo of Milan. Floors in light oak and vanilla-toned walls bring new light to the spaces. Elements of contemporary design are skillfully combined with more classical lines, creating a perfect synthesis between innovation and tradition. The furniture, all made in Italy and created especially Park Hyatt Milano, is enhanced with fine handcrafted details.

The attention to aesthetics continues in the bathroom space: the washbasin cabinets are inspired by a bench found on the original property designed by Ed Tuttle, while a leather vanity with a retractable mirror is cleverly set in the window area. An oval freestanding tub lends a further note of character. The bathroom reflects the discreet luxury that is the hotel’s trademark, and is equally as large as the room itself, with ample shelving and counter space, natural light, roomy closets, a safe, and the unexpected touch of a minibar. The overall result is one of timeless charm and an unparalleled sense of warmth and well-being.

Each room has a sitting area, satellite TV and high-speed Internet access.

Park Hyatt Milano has 25 splendid suites of varying sizes and categories. Each suite has its own unique, elegant and sophisticated style, with design pieces and materials made exclusively for the hotel, as well as important works of art.

MEETING AND RECEPTION ROOMS

The first floor of the hotel hosts 210 sq m of spaces designed to host private business meetings, dinners or aperitifs with the highest level of privacy and discretion. All of the meeting and reception rooms have natural light and are furnished with high-tech multimedia equipment and broadband or wireless Internet, available in all of the hotel's public areas.

PARK HYATT MILANO

The recent history of Milan has passed within these walls

The palazzo that now hosts the Park Hyatt Milano was built in 1874-1875, the same historical period in which the Galleria Vittorio Emanuele II was constructed. In 1875, construction was completed of the 1740-square-meter building designed by G.B. Torretta, and from 1875 to 1877 it was the site of the Comfortable Hotel. Today the entire palazzo comprises 12,1270 square meters. Period documents describe the original hotel as modern and sophisticated, with around 400 rooms and numerous guests, mainly businessmen; it had steam-driven elevators and freight lifts for merchandise and luggage, hot and cold running water on every floor, and radiators. Lighting was provided by 900 gas flames. On the ground floor, a few shops were rented out. The hotel was entered from what is now Via Mengoni.

At the end of 1877 the entire building was rented (originally for 50,000 lire) to the Bocconi brothers, who, exploiting its strategic position, made it the headquarters of their commercial business. Initially, the department store was called Aux Villes d'Italie, but the French terminology was not well accepted by the Milanese, so in 1880 the name was changed to Alle città d'Italia. The luxurious emporium had no rivals in Italy, and sold clothing, furniture and décor items. The Bocconi brothers' emporium remained in Via Tommaso Grossi for 12 years until the construction of Palazzo Bocconi, where the Rinascente department store stands now.
